

YOUR TEN STEP LEADERSHIP ACTION PLAN

TAKING THE TEAM TOWARDS HIGH PERFORMANCE

1

Lead from the top

Be the change you want to see – make sure you embody the values you want your team to have.

6

Focus on what matters

If the team is focused on its goals, company politics and personal agendas take a back seat. Take the lead.

2

Vision and mission

Create or review them, share them and link them to the work in hand.

7

Develop the team

Training, learning and team-building are essential parts of a strong team, creating trust in, and reliance on each other. Take care of your own training and development too.

3

Review resources

Assess what you have and what you need – hard resources (people, buildings, equipment, money) and soft resources (skills, knowledge, goodwill, access to leadership) and link those to your goals.

8

Acknowledge success

Money is not the only way to recognise success – thanks, praise, public recognition, visibility and promotion are all rewards too. Bonuses or share options are more tangible, but won't make an unhappy team happier for more than a couple of days.

4

Assemble the team

Establish what skills the team needs, then assess if they have them. Recruit to fill skills gaps and see new recruits as part of the whole team.

9

Take risks

Set a balance between risk and reward to allow your team to push the boundaries – both success and failure will develop them and the business.

5

Set goals and allocate work

Set goals which stretch your team, and allocate work fairly across the team based on priority, skills, availability and development opportunity.

10

Allow movement

As your team grows and develops, people will want and need to move on; plan ahead so that you can keep the team on track through personnel changes.
