About us

Our multi-disciplinary team provides experienced advice in a timely and practical manner. We have the benefit of a combined team of highly qualified construction professionals, which includes not only construction lawyers but also chartered quantity surveyors, RICS panel adjudicators, arbitrators, experts in health and safety and regulatory law and planning.

We act for a wide range of clients involved in construction and engineering throughout the UK and internationally, including developers, contractors, sub-contractors, product suppliers, construction professionals, funders and occupiers. We provide advice on public procurement, on construction related disputes and have a number of specialist sectors we focus on, including healthcare, energy, banking and education. We also provide specialist training to our clients.

“ The lawyers are always very helpful and provide clear and concise advice. ”
